PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Jane Cantrill

Learning and Support Teacher

Jane Cantrill is an experienced Learning Support Teacher with more than 30 years of experience working across a diverse range of educational settings. She is passionate about helping children develop the confidence, skills and strategies they need to succeed academically and enjoy learning.

Jane has extensive experience supporting primary school students from Kindergarten to Year 6, with a particular focus on literacy and numeracy intervention. Over the past five years, she has specialised in delivering targeted learning support programs within school settings, helping students overcome learning challenges and build strong academic foundations.

Jane is trained in both the MiniLit and MacqLit programs developed by Macquarie University. These evidence-based interventions are grounded in the Science of Reading and provide systematic instruction in phonemic awareness, phonics, decoding, fluency, reading comprehension, spelling and written language. Ongoing assessment is embedded throughout these programs, allowing instruction to be tailored to each student's progress and individual learning needs.

Her numeracy intervention is equally personalised, focusing on developing strong foundational mathematical concepts, including place value, number sense and the four operations of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Jane incorporates hands-on resources, manipulatives, games and multisensory learning experiences to make mathematics engaging, meaningful and accessible.

Jane believes that positive relationships are at the heart of successful learning. She creates a warm, supportive and encouraging environment where children feel safe to take risks, build confidence and celebrate their achievements. Through explicit, evidence-based teaching and an individualised approach, Jane empowers students to develop the skills, resilience and self-belief needed to reach their full learning potential.
